

How do you take yours?

Weak with a splash of lemon?
Or stewed with four sugars?
However you take yours, a humble cup of tea could help transform lives on 19 September.

On.....(date)(your name/church name/company name) from.....(area) will be organising a Christian Aid TeaTime event to help people in the world's poorest communities work their way out of poverty.

Christian Aid is inviting people all over the world to take part in TeaTime.

said: 'I'm organising a TeaTime because.....(give reason).
Please come along (bring your family and friends – the more the merrier!) for a delicious slice of cake and a cuppa. With your support, we can make a real difference to the lives of some of the world's poorest people.'

Tea bags or tea leaves- how did you make yours?

.....(your name/church name/company name) from.....(area) would like to say a big thank you to everyone who attended his/her/their TeaTime event and helped raise a fantastic £.....(amount) for Christian Aid.

'It was great fun and everyone really enjoyed themselves. It is wonderful that a simple and fun event like a tea party with our church/friends/neighbours/colleagues (delete as appropriate) has helped raise lots of money for such a worthwhile cause,' said.....(name).

All money raised by TeaTime events like.....(your name/church name/company name) makes a real difference to the lives of people living in the world's poorest communities.

Amanda Borg, Christian Aid's TeaTime event manager, said: 'Last year more than 35,000 people took part in TeaTime raising in excess of £195,000. I would like to say a massive thanks to(your name/church name/company name) and to his/her/their friends/church/neighbours/colleagues (delete as appropriate) for taking part in TeaTime 2008 – we hope to raise more than £250,000.

'The success of this event is all down to the hard work and dedication of people like
.....(your name/church leader's name/employee's name).
The money raised will make a genuine difference to the lives of poor people around the world.'
