This is Kadiatu.

Kadiatu is 11 years old and dreams of being a doctor, but being a girl could stop her.

Turn over to find out why...

Kadiatu lives in a country called Sierra Leone in Africa.

In Sierra Leone, girls often stay at home to run the house and look after children so can't always go to school. In fact, twice as many boys go to school than girls. But Kadiatu is very determined to fulfil her dream of becoming a doctor, so she gets up early to be ready for school and does her chores as soon as she gets home. We believe every girl should have an equal chance to learn. She says: 'We too want to be educated!' Go, Kadiatu!

A-maze-ing!

Help Kadiatu find her way to school.

Have you heard of the five-fingered prayer where you use each finger of your hand to remind you to pray for something or someone? Draw round your hand here:

Use the space in each finger to write a prayer about all that you learned about today. You could include Kadiatu, Christian Aid, your school, and even yourself as you think about your future.
