Dirty water or none at all?

Climate chaos in South Sudan forced Adut to give her children this dirty river water.

Not anymore. Adut now has access to a borehole. That means clean water for her children to drink and peace of mind for a loving, determined mum.

The water from the hand pump is very good. It’s disease free. We drink it with peace of mind.

Adut, South Sudan

This Christmas our church has raised for mums facing impossible choices.

Our support will help mums like Adut to raise happy, healthier children in the face of the climate crisis.
