

Loss and Damage Campaign

The climate crisis is destroying communities.

Homes flooded in Honduras following Hurricane Iota in 2020.

Join our campaign to make polluters pay.

Floods, droughts and storms are destroying homes and communities. People are losing their lives and livelihoods.

In Pakistan 2 million homes were left damaged or destroyed after a third of the country was submerged by floods. And in Ethiopia the worst drought in 40 years has left millions of people facing the threat of famine.

This is loss and damage.

The communities who have done the least to cause the climate crisis are experiencing its worst effects.

Standing with our global neighbours, we're calling for the most polluting companies and countries to pay up for the damage they've caused.

Act for justice by holding the biggest polluters to account.
